This bathroom, brimming with meaning and character, features taps from the Ramon Soler® Adagio collection, renowned for its impeccable design of strokes bounded by straight lines and curves with organic forms, common in nature and in shapes that try to imitate it. All the charisma of Adagio and its organic geometry, inspired by the search for beauty through ideal proportions, is the most solemn and sober part of the web of styles that the space presents.

URBAN ECLECTICISM

A unique set of elements makes up the interior design of this bathroom with an urban essence. The use of materials such as iron, ceramic and wood stands out, in an elegant colour palette of natural tones such as pure white, the range of greys, black and gold.

The walls are covered with wallpaper with geometric motifs: straight lines forming meticulously arranged diamonds. The flooring is terrazzo, in grey tones and with an imperfect, natural texture, key to the expression of the eclectic style. This composition works as a perfect canvas against which the most disparate elements and materials stand out.

BATH AREA

We begin the visual tour of this bathroom by fixing our gaze on the spectacular cast-iron bathtub, enamelled on the outside in an anthracite grey that transports us to the streets of the most cosmopolitan city, and on the inside in a pure white that, together with the wallpaper, gives the space the luminosity and purity it needs. The bathtub is perfectly accompanied by the bath tapware from the Ramon Soler® Adagio collection. The thermostatic tap with integrated diverter features a geometric design with a body of exceptional symmetry and a glossy chrome finish, in which the brand's architectural and innovative soul resides. The cylindrical handheld shower is the perfect accessory thanks to its minimalist style, as well as the arrangement and material of its anti-limescale nozzles, which deliver a comfortable and functional shower.

WC Magnet by Ramon Soler®

The Ramon Soler® WC Magnet tap replaces the classic bidet. Thanks to its compact dimensions and wall-mounted installation, it makes this area of the bathroom as elegant as it is minimalist. In addition, WC Magnet is a clever innovation with a patented double-closing system: a double safety valve integrated into the tap body that closes when the handset is placed in its holder, thanks to a magnet that helps ensure a perfect seal.

In the same WC area, the new Ramon Soler® Bathroom Accessories are installed, a surprising move by the brand to complement the bathroom with the same modern, minimalist character as its taps. In a chrome finish, we find a set comprising a towel holder, toilet roll holder and wall-mounted toilet brush holder, as well as a wall-mounted soap dish for the basin area in the same line.

Continuing with the basin area, we find the Ramon Soler® Adagio taps, accompanied by a bowl-style washbasin with the same white enamel as the bathtub. Two two-handle basin taps: on the left, the concealed version with eye-catching trims; on the right, the tall swan-neck tap with a skirt-type base in the same sinuous lines as the trims.

Both formats feature the exceptional cross-shaped handle, the living representation of symmetry. The whole set rests on a black wooden vanity unit in a classic style with sinuous lines that reaffirms the eclectic character of the interior design.

This eclectic bathroom manages to convey the essence of what is authentic. Elements conceived with the care and taste of those who love design. Contemporary luxury without ostentation, like that found in the most cosmopolitan city.

All the elements of this space connect, displaying the eclectic aesthetic in all its splendour with an interplay of styles generated by the combination of different colours, shapes and functions. On the one hand, the bathroom furniture and fittings, such as the taps, washbasins, bathtub and bathroom accessories, are in cool, immaculate materials and tones with an urban essence. The visual importance of the mirror, with matt black painted wooden panels, is worth noting, reinforcing the idea of solid materiality and concepts such as geometry, the beauty of proportions, and the quality and purity of materials.

The decorative elements contrast with the solemnity of the above. The imposing gold mirror made up of round shapes randomly overlapping, the painting with diffuse strokes and soft tones, and the textiles, with the warm round rug and the brown towel, add softness and warmth, resulting in a unique space for the most nonconformist, who enjoy combining and mixing personal, original ideas with great elegance without losing sense.
