The Reflections bathroom

Good design is characterised by a careful choice of colours and furniture that is both functional and aesthetic. This bathroom stands out for the subtle combination of colours it incorporates, such as the wood tone and white, a timeless colour one never tires of and which, at the same time, gives the room a sense of spaciousness. Its Nordic style exudes character combined with avant-garde design.

This project incorporates the Ramon Soler® URBAN CHIC tap collection, adding a touch of distinction that makes the difference. The collection stands out as a straight-lined tap that conveys firmness and has an elegant look. The tap features a slight inclination with respect to the base, which brings the tap opening closer to the basin, creating a certain dynamism overall. Its height is considerable in order to accommodate modern countertop basin options that make things more comfortable for users. The handle design is single-lever with minimal thickness, resulting in an exclusive, lightweight element. The URBAN CHIC tap has been awarded the IF DESIGN AWARD in the "product" discipline and the "bathroom" category thanks to its slender look and splendid unexpected angles. It is an internationally recognised award, a seal of excellence in design and one of the most highly valued.

The project

This bathroom is a very clean and bright space thanks to the lighting details visible along the corners of the walls and at the bottom of the mirror. It is a design crafted so that people entering this bathroom feel comfortable and impressed by the exquisiteness of the design. The project includes wooden elements that create a contrast perfectly combined with the white tones. Wood is a noble material that brings warmth to the space and is associated with nature, as it has a very natural finish. This material contains sealant treatments against moisture that allow it to be used daily in the bathroom without any problem. The exclusive space features a three-dimensional porcelain cladding that brings brightness to the room thanks to the wide variety of light reflections that give the space dynamism, as well as delivering a surprising effect in which luxury is key. The reflections bathroom is a project that includes a wooden element in the form of a small table on which to leave personal hygiene products. It recalls a pedestal on which a monument stands, lending the room character and personality as well as providing functionality and versatility.

Shower area

The centre of attention in this project is the large shower, with a double side entrance, where a large thermostatic shower from the Ramon Soler® URBAN CHIC collection is located. The transparent screen subtly separates this area from the others, adding functionality and elegance to the project while allowing continuity with the rest of the bathroom.

Basin area

This area stands out for its straight lines following a minimalist design, incorporating a suspended wooden countertop that gives the bathroom a certain functionality while also making the space easier to clean. On top of it sits an extraordinary ceramic washbasin and an exclusive tall single-lever tap from the Ramon Soler® URBAN CHIC collection.

The URBAN CHIC collection is an example of exclusivity for those who want a bathroom that reflects good taste and distinction.
