The Slow Life bathroom

A bathroom that shines in its own right, fitted with the new Ergos range of accessories by Ramon Soler® and its new Adagio taps.

This bathroom, the most private area of the home, radiates a design that is entirely on trend: the Slow life trend. This style is characterised by a pared-back decor that lets us feel calm and switch off, and by open-plan spaces. A design that sets a slow, natural lifestyle.

Creativity and elegance abound in this bathroom with a rural spirit, too. Its wooden unit and its taps and accessories in brushed gold finish bring elegance and a touch of modernism to this countryside bathroom.

In this room, brimming with character, taps from the Adagio collection by Ramon Soler® have been installed. The collection is renowned for its impeccable design of straight lines and curves with organic forms, common in nature and in shapes that seek to imitate it. All the charisma that Adagio inspires, and its organic geometry, inspired by the search for beauty through ideal proportions, is the most solemn and sober part of this rural yet modern bathroom.

BASIN AREA

Two bowl-shaped basins crown the simple-lined solid wood bathroom unit. To bring the bathroom to life, the Adagio two-handle taps by Ramon Soler® are combined: on the left, the concealed version of Adagio; on the right, the Adagio tall tap in brushed gold.

Together they create a unique composition that fills the room with personality. Both models feature the exceptional cross-shaped handle, a vivid representation of symmetry.

WC AREA

In the toilet area we can see part of the new Ergos range of accessories by Ramon Soler®, created to meet the needs of those users who were looking for the same finish as their taps. In this elegant and unrivalled brushed gold finish of maximum resistance, the brand offers everything from hooks to towel rails, toilet brush holders and soap dishes, which complement the taps perfectly.

Also worth highlighting in this same area is the WC Magnet tap by Ramon Soler®, which replaces the classic bidet. Thanks to its compact dimensions and wall-mounted installation, this part of the bathroom is as elegant as it is minimalist. In addition, WC Magnet is a smart innovation with a patented double-closing system: a double safety valve built into the body of the tap that closes when the hand shower is placed in its holder, thanks to a magnet that ensures a perfect seal.

In short, a rustic bathroom, based on the Slow life style, which calms us with its stone tones and transports us to nature. It features the taps from the Adagio collection and the new Ergos accessories by Ramon Soler® in their brushed gold finish of maximum durability. These elements are responsible for creating a special bathroom that also offers the highest performance.
