

PRODUCT · 2025

ramonsoler's Hércules outdoor shower column, now in brushed copper

The Hércules outdoor shower column by ramonsoler, in brushed copper, elevates the outdoor experience with style and durability, thanks to its resistant design and warm elegance.

Hércules outdoor shower column by ramonsoler, in brushed copper with one outlet.

The brand offers the Hércules outdoor single-lever shower column, a robust and sophisticated solution made of 316 stainless steel, the ideal material for withstanding demanding conditions, including coastal environments.

This sculptural piece is available in a sophisticated brushed copper finish, joining the stainless steel version. A proposal of maximum durability and resistance, designed for prolonged use outdoors.

Imagine enjoying a refreshing shower under the open sky, surrounded by a comfortable garden or beside the swimming pool, with a column that not only offers an invigorating experience but also brings character and design to its surroundings.

The brushed copper finish is the true star: a choice with great personality, notable for its warm, elegant and sophisticated tone, capable of transforming any outdoor space into a welcoming, stylish setting. Its aesthetic versatility allows it to fit harmoniously into classic settings as well as minimalist or contemporary schemes, always adding a distinctive touch that does not go unnoticed.

Hércules outdoor shower column by ramonsoler, one outlet, in brushed copper finish.

This finish not only wins hearts at first sight but also guarantees high durability thanks to ramonsoler's exclusive Quality Finish technology. This advanced coating system using PVD technology provides up to ten times the resistance of conventional chrome in salt spray tests, ensuring optimum protection against oxidation and wear, even under intensive use and exposure to the open air.

The Hércules column is available in two versions: 1-way, with a minimalist-design overhead shower head for an enveloping, relaxing shower; and a 2-way option, which incorporates a lower outlet specially designed for rinsing feet, without sacrificing design or functionality.

At ramonsoler, quality, innovation and design come together to shape products that go beyond expectations. The Hércules shower column, in its spectacular brushed copper version, not only responds to current trends but sets a new standard in beauty, resistance and functionality for outdoor spaces.

Whether to renovate a garden, enhance a poolside setting or create a relaxation corner by the sea, the Hércules column in brushed copper is the perfect choice for those who seek excellence in every detail.

Hércules outdoor shower column by ramonsoler, 2-way, in brushed copper finish.

Hércules invites you to enjoy every drop under the open sky, with top-level design, ultra-resistant materials and finishes that make the difference.

More information: rsramonsoler.com/en-INT/press-releases/columna-de-ducha-para-exterior-hercules-de