The most minimalist cascade shower head

The RCE02 wall-mounted concealed shower head combines design with the highest quality, thanks to its solid stainless steel construction.

Waterfall bath spout by Ramon Soler®

This concealed ultra-flat shower head lets us transport ourselves to nature and feel the unique sensations of an abundant waterfall cascading over the body. With its waterfall water outlet, it offers the benefits of hydrotherapy in a shower head which, besides having an exclusive design, lets us tone the body and fill it with vitality.

The design of this concealed waterfall from Ramon Soler® is perfect for bathrooms with a contemporary aesthetic, where it will fit in perfectly thanks to its minimalist format and chrome finish.

A model of style and simple elegance, which will add a touch of character and personality to the setting, above all because it can be combined with any model of single-lever, two-handle or thermostatic shower tap to suit the user's taste.

Being made of solid stainless steel, this shower head guarantees quality and safety. It is a material that is highly resistant to impact and high temperatures. Moreover, the non-porous nature of this material prevents the presence of germs, avoids oxidation and makes cleaning easier. At the same time, its anti-bacterial properties bring a very modern professional, industrial touch.

Its dimensions are 27cm wide x 5cm high.
