

AWARDS · 2020

ramonsoler certified by EcoVadis

Ramon Soler® wins the 2020 bronze medal in recognition of its achievements in Corporate Social Responsibility EcoVadis is the first collaborative sustainability rating platform for global supply chains. The platform, shared between buyer and supplier, makes it possible to improve the reliability of information and reduce costs by streamlining the purchasing process.

New Fly basin single-lever mixer by Ramon Soler®

EcoVadis certification is awarded to companies that work to continuously improve the environment by following a sustainable ethic that is reflected in their social and environmental footprint. This certification provides a CSR (Corporate Social Responsibility) rating service through a global cloud-based software-as-a-service platform. It covers a broad range of non-financial management systems, including environmental impacts, labour practices and human rights, ethics and sustainable procurement. Ramon Soler® has obtained the EcoVadis bronze medal certification this year, 2020, thanks to its continuous improvement in its social and environmental footprint. Its aim is to improve companies' environmental and social practices, allowing them to focus their priorities on sustainability. The brand follows a business ethic that respects the environment, human resources, human rights and purchasing practices, with improved transparency and sustainability. Ramon Soler® has been assessed on aspects relating to the company's size, location and sector, with the aim of measuring the quality of the company's CSR (Corporate Social Responsibility) management system through its policies, actions and results. As a result of the assessment, the company has been awarded the bronze medal in recognition of its CSR achievements. The brand incorporates the latest technology to facilitate sustainable business, together with greater comfort for the user and peace of mind regarding the improvement of the environment. Its commitment includes the development of more efficient taps that reduce water consumption thanks to eco-design processes. Ramon Soler® looks to the future to leave a better world for current and future generations, helping to make life easier for everyone in the best possible way and with exceptional quality.

More information: rsramonsoler.com/en-INT/press-releases/ramon-soler-certificado-por-ecovadis