International recognition

As a result of its commitment to design, innovation and construction detail, its products have been recognised in recent years with the most prestigious international awards.

At Ramon Soler®, they pamper the details and take care over the development and manufacture of their products so that they are unique pieces. With a refined design, the use of quality materials and an industrial approach based on technological innovation, they ensure that their offering maintains a high level of differentiation, which gives them a prominent position as a benchmark in the manufacture of taps and shower systems. Both basin tap collections and kitchen tap collections have been awarded.

The brand has recently been recognised with the bronze Delta award. With this latest one, the firm now holds six international design awards, adding to the five previous awards it had received: two If Design Award prizes, the prestigious German Design Award received in 2022, the renowned Red Dot award and a NAN award, granted by a prestigious jury of architects.

These awards recognise the firm's great design and its major technological advances and innovations. As a result of its effort to offer quality products for people that are careful with the environment, it wins major accolades.

Systems as novel as its patented Tourbillon System or its innovative Magnet System put them at the head of the market, positioning them as a leading firm in the sector.

Since its beginnings in 1890, the firm Ramon Soler® has stood out for creating products that generate sensory experiences and improve people's quality of life, solving real problems, through continuous improvement in process engineering and in the manufacture of avant-garde, eco-sustainable final products. Today, more than 130 years later, it is experiencing a moment of deep recognition for its "know-how", focused on integrating sustainability, innovation and high technology.

Juries of design experts assess each piece in detail, and these very pieces shine for their excellence.
