Through these exclusive products, it succeeds in conveying that concept of balance and serenity. The project is designed with the most outstanding products from solerbath and ramonsoler. PERSONALITY IN DESIGN

The Kaiser washbasin is crowned by a tap from the Odisea Joya collection. It is an adaptation of the renowned Joya series, created in 1968 by Ramon Soler Roger himself. Its design consists of a cylindrical body with a skirt-shaped base and a slender cylindrical spout, with a distinctive tilt for a more precise and controlled water flow.

To bring the bathroom to life, this collection is combined with the Odisea series, fitted on the Alma bidet in brushed gold finish. A range that evokes the elegance of contemporary minimalist designs. Its main skirted base and sleek body are combined with a spout whose angled end delivers the most precise and controlled water flow. Together they create a unique composition that fills the space with personality. Both models feature a brushed gold finish that combines distinction and elegance. In tune with the washbasin and the toilet area, we can also see part of the new Ergos range of accessories from ramonsoler, which came about to meet the needs of users who were looking for the same finish as the taps. The Ergos collection offers accessories in brushed gold finish, such as the soap dish and the towel rail beside the washbasin, and the shelf towel rail and two hooks accompanying the WC and bidet. All of them complement the taps perfectly, achieving a unique visual harmony.

WASHBASIN AREA

This bathroom also incorporates the new lines of sanitaryware and washbasins from solerbath.

First, we find the KAISER washbasin collection, which features a design of straight lines perfectly joined by rounded corners. A single piece, with smoothness and continuity in its forms. Its sophisticated, comfortable design brings a sense of spaciousness and cleanliness to the setting. In addition, its white porcelain finish brings brightness to the bathroom, and its ergonomic, functional design guarantees a comfortable and practical user experience.

Turning to the sanitaryware, the wall-hung toilet and bidet from the ALMA collection stand out. A surprising proposal from the brand and essential in any bathroom, with the same modern, minimalist character as its taps. The ALMA collection is a very complete range that offers quality and functionality, with a refined geometry that results in balanced lines. The design of its products is based on new technologies and the latest trends in bathroom design. These wall-hung models presented by the brand are a very interesting option, as they allow easier and more convenient cleaning. In addition, the ALMA collection has a hygienic flushing system. Its rimless, refined and uniform design makes cleaning easier and prevents the proliferation of bacteria.
